

Fire Extinguisher Portfolio

Fire extinguishers face some of the most demanding conditions—from industrial chemical exposure and extreme temperature fluctuations to constant physical wear. When a safety label fails, so does compliance. Our portfolio features UL 299-recognized fire extinguisher labeling solutions that empower converters to deliver high-performance, compliant labeling that remains intact and legible for the lifespan of the extinguisher.

Why choose Avery Dennison?

Ensures Critical Safety Compliance

These solutions are specifically recognized under UL 299 for use with portable dry chemical/powder (Class D) fire extinguishers.

Lasting Label Legibility

Our label combinations are UL-recognized as a complete system—including press inks, labelstock, and overlaminates—to ensure critical instructions remain perfectly legible even under the harshest conditions.

Simplifies the Regulatory Process

By leveraging an already recognized system, converters can file for a “label adoption,” significantly reducing the time, cost, and effort required to add a new product to their PGDQ2 UL file.

Did you know?

UL 299 recognition requires the label construction and inks to be UL 969 recognized first. Additional performance requirements specifically for fire extinguishers are tested on the canister and identified as “FE” on the yellow cards for each surface and minimum diameter.
