

Black Collection

An iconic black label can transform a brand, conveying a premium look and feel to consumers. Quality of execution is everything, and the Avery Dennison Black Collection gives converters and brand owners materials that look the part – right up to the edge of the label.

The Black Collection is a broad portfolio that delivers the exceptional and dependable quality needed for eye-catching packaging designs that stand out on the shelf, especially when using textured black labels.

Materials include smooth to highly textured surfaces, thick to thin facestocks and a variety of different shades. Converters no longer have to print twice to create a rich and even black. You'll benefit from saturated black labels without white edges, along with the stable hot foiling needed to release your creativity.
